Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) OR THIRTY (30) DAYS, WHICHEVER IS LONGER, FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

Status

- 1) ☒ Responsive to communication(s) filed on 19 December 2003.
- 2a) ☐ This action is FINAL.                      2b) ☒ This action is non-final.

DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1, 4-6 and 9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being unpatentable over Fujimura (U.S. Patent Number 5963528).
3. Regarding claim 1, Fujimura et al disclose:

A locking mechanism for an external optical disk drive with a cover (Figure 2, item 6) and an upper housing (Figure 2, item 6), comprising:

An elastic member, having two connecting ends (Figure 21, item 28);

A rotary shaft (Figure 21, item 28), integrally formed with the cover (column 6, lines 15-24) and having a hole adapted to receive one of the connecting ends (Figure 21, item 27a);

A locking member, positioned on the upper housing (column 2, lines 41-47);

A mounting member (Figure 21, item 22), positioned on the upper housing and adapted to fasten the other one of the connecting ends (Figure 21, item 22c).

4. Regarding claim 4, Fujimura et al disclose:

The locking mechanism as claimed in claim 1, further comprising a gear rack that is integrally formed with the rotary shaft of the cover (column 6, lines 8-12).

5. Regarding claim 5, Fujimura et al disclose:

The locking mechanism as claimed in claim 4, further comprising a spur gear that is positioned on the mounting member and is adapted to engage with the gear rack (column 5, lines 29-38).

6. Regarding claim 6, Fujimura et al disclose:

A locking mechanism for an external optical disk drive with a cover (Figure 2, item 6) and an upper housing (Figure 2, item 6), comprising:

An elastic member, having two connecting ends (Figure 21, item 28);

A rotary shaft (Figure 21, item 36), integrally formed with the cover (column 6, lines 15-24) and having a hole adapted to receive one of the connecting ends (Figure 21, item 27a);

A gear rack, integrally formed with the rotary shaft (Figure 21, item 27);

A mounting member (Figure 21, item 22c), positioned on the upper housing and adapted to fasten the other one of the connecting ends (Figure 21, item 22c);

A spur gear (column 5, lines 29-38), positioned on the mounting member and adapted to engage with the gear rack (column 5, lines 28-38); and

A locking member, positioned on the upper housing.

7. Regarding claim 9, Fujimura et al disclose:

Art Unit: 2653

An external optical disk drive, comprising:

A lower housing (Figure 2, item 4);

An upper housing, positioned at the lower housing (Figure 2, item 5);

A locking member, positioned on the upper housing (column 2, lines 42-47);

An elastic member, having two connecting ends (Figure 21, item 28);

A cover (column 6, lines 15-24), having a rotary shaft (Figure 21, item 36) and a gear rack (Figure 21, item 27) and having a hole to be adapted to receive one of the connecting ends of the elastic member (Figure 21, item 22c);

A mounting member (Figure 21, item 22), positioned on the upper housing and adapted to fasten the other one of the connecting ends (Figure 21, item 22c).

A spur gear, positioned at the mounting member (column 5, lines 29-38);

Wherein the cover is opened or closed, the spur gear will engage with the gear rack of the cover (column 5, lines 29-38).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

8. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

9. Claims 2,3, 7, 8, 10 and 11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Fujimura, in view of Official Notice.

Art Unit: 2653

10. Regarding claim 2, 3, 7, 8, 10 and 11, Official Notice is taken that it is well known in the art to make these elastic torsion members out of plastic or metallic materials, therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to use a plastic or metallic torsion spring since metal or plastic are well known materials in making torsion springs.
